THE BLACK HORSE CAVALRY.

To the Editor of the Richmond Dispatch: I see that in 1856-'59 the young planters of Fauquier county met at Waterloo and organized the Black Horse cavalry, each mounted on a black horse of Black Hawk blood.

Who was first commander of this company? Did Colonel Dick Dulany give the horses, as I have heard? Was there also a Prince William Black Horse company and who were its commanders?

Ruckersville, Va.,
E.

The Black Horse Troop was formed in 1858, Colonel (then Mr.) Scott was dining with Colonel (afterwards General) W. H. Payne at the latter's father-in-law's, near Warrenton. After dinner Payne predicted an early dissolution of the Union and suggested the forming of a squadron of cavalry. And so the young farmers of the neighborhood were called together in Payne's office at Warrenton (not at Waterloo), and the company was speedily recruited and officered. Scott was elected captain; Robert Randolph, first lieutenant; Charles H. Gordon, second lieutenant; Alex. D. Payne, third lieutenant. W. H. Payne was at the time on Governor Wise's staff and held a commission, but, nevertheless, belonged to the company as a private. From 1858 to April 1861 the company had nothing to do but to meet and drill.
Many of the meetings were held at Waterloo. At the time of the John Brown raid the troop was called out and rendered such services as were assigned it.

On the 17th of April, 1861, the troop marched to Harper's Ferry and on the 20th was recalled by order of Colonel (afterwards general) Hanton, of Warrenton, and directed to complete its organization.

Colonel Scott having gone off to Alabama in advance of the secession of Virginia and taken rank in the regular Confederate army, W. H. Payne was elected captain of the troop. He was the troop's "first commander in war" and led it to its first battle (Manassas), but in a few months promotion took him away from the command of the company. All the members did not have black horses, but there were many black horses in the company.

Colonel Dick Dulany supplied his own company—not the Black Horse Cavalry—largely with horses and arms.

There was no Prince William Black Horse, but there was a Prince William cavalry, which was second to none. It also formed part of the Fourth Virginia regiment.—(Richmond Dispatch.)

NEW METHODS IN ADVERTISING

Railway companies are adopting new and unique methods of advertising, as is demonstrated by the publication in the Four Track Series of the New York Central Road, of what is now becoming widely known and somewhat famous, "A message to Garcia," by Elbert Hubbard, of the Philadelphia Magazine, which itself is a peculiar and interesting publication as relating to magazines of the present day.

This article is attracting widespread attention, and has been answered by a writer in "The Mirror," published at St. Louis, under date of June 15, 1899, entitled "A Message to Hubbard," which gives the other side of the American employee.

The Southern Railway, the leading Southern system, spreading from Washington to the Mississippi river, and girdling the south, and the only line to "The Land of the Sky" section of western North Carolina, has also issued a publication out of the ordinary in the shape of an attractive booklet entitled "A Night on Mount Mitchell," by Henry Litchfield West.

This story is a description of an ascension to the very top of Mount Mitchell, which is the highest peak east of the Rocky Mountains, and 400 feet higher than Mount Washington, upon which has been erected a monument to Prof. Mitchell, after whom the mountain is named.

The story is replete with interest, and thrilling in detailing a trip which may be taken by any traveler for health or pleasure, and reminds one of Talmage's description of Lookout Mountain, when he stood upon its heights and described the following oration, which is reproduced for its graphic description of a location famous in American history:

"The carriage wound its way up, up, up. Standing there on the tip-top rock, I saw five States of the Union. Scenes stupendous and overwhelming. One almost is disposed to take off his hat in the presence of what seems to be the grandest prospect of this continent.
There is Missionary Ridge, the beach against which the red billows of Federal and Confederate courage surged and broke. There are the blue mountains of North and South Carolina.
With strain of vision, there is Kentucky, there is Virginia. At our feet Chattahoochee and Chickamauga, the pronunciation of which proper names will thrill ages to come with thoughts of valor and desperation and agony. Looking each way, and any way, from the top of that mountain, earthworks, earthworks—the beautiful Tennessee winding through the valley, curling and coiling around, making letter "S" after letter "S" as if that letter stood for shame, that brothers should have gone into massacre with each other, while God and nations looked on. I have stood on Mount Washington, and on the Sierra Nevada, and on the Alps, but I never saw so far as from the top of Lookout Mountain."

Copies of this booklet and other interesting publications on "The Land of the Sky" section and "Lookout Mountain" may be obtained from Mr. W. A.
Turk, General Passenger Agent, Southern Railway, Washington.

Philadelphia, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of "It soon removed the pain in my chest

I feel like sounding its praise throughout the Universe." So will every one Persons troubled with diarrhoea will be interested in the experience of Mr.

W. M. Rush, clerk of Hotel Dorrance, Providence, R. I. He says: "For several years I have been almost a constant sufferer from diarrhoea, the frequent attacks completely prostrating me and rendering me unfit for my duties at this hotel. About two years ago a traveling salesman kindly gave me a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Much to my surprise and delight its effects were immediate. Whenever I felt symptoms of the disease I would fortify myself against the attack with a few doses of this valuable remedy.
The result has been very satisfactory and almost complete relief from the affliction." For sale by all druggists.
